ANNUAL FUND UPDATE

2014-2015 Giving Year Tops the Charts Thank You for Our Best Giving Year Yet

HALL OF FAME

Kenyon Athletic Hall of Fame Inducts Jeffrey Katowitz '90

Delts make up more than half of Athletic Hall of Fame male members.

On September 19, Kenyon inducted Jeff Katowitz (Chi '90) into the Kenyon Athletic Hall of Fame. Jeff is the only male athlete in Kenyon track and field history to win at least one All-America award in four consecutive seasons. He specialized in the javelin and was one of just three athletes to win four consecutive NCAC titles in the event. He set both the Kenyon and conference records in the event and placed top-ten at nationals in each of his four seasons. In his freshman season he was national runner-up.

Jeff is the 16th Delt to be inducted into the Kenyon Athletic Hall of Fame. Members of Delta Tau Delta represent more than 50% of the male members of the Athletic Hall of Fame.

ALUMNI PROFILE

Chris Todd Burgess '90: Cultivating Relationships is Key

Christopher Todd Burgess, now Managing Director at Pictet & Cie, a Hong Kong Financial Services company, shares memories of the days when life seemed like a parody of "Animal House."

I was drafted into DTD by an alum named Peter Luther. I had dated his sister in earlier years, so I think he owed me. During my school visit before applying to Kenyon, I was able to successfully dodge every single commitment that was arranged, miss every class I was supposed to observe and ignore most of the meetings. Of the one or two meetings and/or classes I got roped into, I was either with a Delt who was able to convince me that sitting in the back of class was preferable to the front in order to hide bloodshot eyes or with a sympathizer. Peter and his crew were adept at arranging for evening and "after school activities." Lodge events such as The Chairman were scheduled and Leonard Hall visits and pre-arranged meetings in the Pirates Cove were what occupied me the most and convinced me this was the right college to attend. Flounder would have been embarrassed at this point with my approach to rounding out the "fat, drunk and stupid" repertoire, so the decision was made.

As a Freshman, I worked hard at keeping standards low and goals lower – much easier that way to stumble through... my focus was on making friends and meeting girls. The smart thing I did was make friends with a few guys who were equally diversified and we were rushed by DTD. Someone said I should be pledge class president so that I could be project manager of converting the basement of the Lodge into livable quarters. We failed miserably and my asthma and allergies were the worst they were for years – which was why it was important I date someone a few years older and who had an apartment. I spent most of my time there, but made it back to the lodge for an occasional beverage, ping pong game and masque treatment. Andrew, Ron, Tim, James, Matt and I were very good at making the Lodge feel warm and lived in (a dump) and managed to culture every spore possible. Come party time, we were amazing at pushing everything into a corner and assigning pledges cleanup duty. I digress. My couches, rugs, ping pong table and the few remaining Wal-Mart glasses and tumblers which were not smashed on the back wall may still be there.

MENTORSHIP

Byron Horn Mentorship Panel Allowed Undergrads to Interface with Established Alumni

Chi Chapter Continues to Build Better Men Dedicated to Lives of Excellence

On September 19th, over 50 alumni, actives, and invited guests of Delta Tau Delta (Chi Chapter) at Kenyon College convened at The Shelter for a morning of networking and mentorship. The event marked the fourth annual Byron Horn Mentorship Panel. Undergraduates were provided with a unique opportunity to interface with established alumni in their intended career discipline. In addition to receiving valuable career advice, actives are also learning how to leverage their experiences as Deltas to obtain highly competitive entry level positions and admittance to graduate school.

Gerry Horn (Beta Phi) opened up the session with some remarks about his son Byron (Chi '86). Following a brief opening from the panel's moderator, Alex Hetherington (Chi '89), a former U.S Marine Corps helicopter pilot, each member of the panel took the podium to discuss how they chose their current professions and their time as a Delt at Kenyon College. The floor was then open for questions from the audience.

This year the panel consisted of a diverse group of alumni ranging from attorneys to authors. Panelists included: Ben Holland (Chi '99) an attorney for Ogletree Deakins in Charlotte N.C.; John Bonomo (Chi '99) an investment banker for UBS in London, England; Blair Withington (Chi '10) an investment banker for Forbes M&A in Boulder, Colorado; Dan Glazer (Chi '13) a real estate associate for Sperry Van Ness in Los Angeles, California; and Adam Kline (Chi '94), a screenwriter and author in Chicago, Illinois.

All of the alumni panelists firmly believe that the experiences and opportunities afforded by Delta Tau Delta provide valuable real-life training for any career. Furthermore, Deltas who have developed excellent written and spoken communication skills are far and away more prepared to succeed in their careers. A common theme throughout the panel discussion was the credit to their Delt brothers for being a wonderful source of support throughout their challenging business and personal life.

After the panel concluded, the group convened for a tailgate next to McBride (Chi 1918) Field. Under the confines of a large tent, the alumni and students enjoyed burgers and brats along with a large spread of food and drinks. Many thanks to Chris Bonacci (Chi '88) and John Cannon (Chi '83) for sponsoring the tailgate as well as Don Gest (Chi '86) who organized all of the day's events.

The annual mentorship panel is one of many benefits that the Byron Horn Mentorship program offers to the brothers of Chi Chapter. The program was formed by the Chi Chapter Alumni Association in honor of Byron Horn. The panel and program each seek to instill the same hard work and dedication Bryon demonstrated as a Delt, father, husband, and established law professional. Unrivaled by the other fraternities at Kenyon College, Chi Chapter boasts the only program of this kind and caliber. The Byron Horn Mentorship Program is yet another example of Delta Tau Delta's dedication to Lives of Excellence.

CHAPTER UPDATE

Current Actives Keep the Delt Future Looking Bright

By Tim Barry

It has been a wonderful year for Delta Tau Delta. With the addition of 10 new members, we have increased our total membership to 30 actives on campus. Our chapter's goal for the upcoming academic year is focusing on the future. We began the year with a career retreat that focused on writing résumés and cover letters. As we continue this academic year we plan on hosting an event with the CDO (Kenyon's Career Development Office) to further our career pursuits.

Kenyon Deltas have had amazing summer opportunities. Here are two highlights from the senior class:

Sam Althans '16 worked for Village Capital Corporation, a CDFI, working on credit analysis for real estate loans and projects around Cleveland. He also worked on recommendations for the company's environmental lending policies. Currently he is seeking an analyst or associate position in finance or accounting.

Felix Janssen '16 interned at the National Association for Wholesale, Foreign Trade, and Services in Berlin, Germany, which represents over 125,000 companies with a total profit of over 1,8 trillion euros. He gained experience in the foreign trade, environmental, and transportation department, assisting the department heads with his own research, briefings, and memos. Additionally, Felix got the opportunity to attend multiple workshops and briefings by the German economics department and the EU commission

Back on campus, our community service chair, Szabi Simo, organized a very successful blood drive. With the help of the Brothers of Delta Tau Delta, the American Red Cross was able to collect 10 more pints than expected, saving 150 lives. In addition to the blood drives, we are currently planning a benefit for the East Knox schools and JDRE. Our chapter currently holds the most service events on campus and is a wonderful example of a service-based organization.
